

Carole Murko

Carole Murko is an innovator and incubator for new ideas. She had a successful career in financial services primarily in the institutional money management industry where she developed, marketed and sold complex fixed income strategies to Fortune 100 pension funds. During that phase of her career she held positions with Moodys Investors Service, Prudential Capital Markets International, State Street Global Advisors and Independence Investments along with countless consulting assignments.

Carole then began to pursue more entrepreneurial ventures with the creation of Dodo Unlimited where she wrote and published 2 children's books and developed multiple brand extensions. Once fully engaged in "creating" ideas and things, Carole pursued a certificate in interior design and began and ran a successful interior design practice in Boston.

Carole is now living in the Berkshires and is putting all of her skills to work. She started a real estate and interior design company called the Boulderwood Group where she taps into the synergies that exist between buying and selling real estate and the need for interior design services. She is also in the process of developing a new business in the culinary world.

Carole has an AB in Economics from Smith College, MA in International Economics from NYU, earned the CFA designation (Chartered Financial Analyst) and is a licensed real estate broker in Massachusetts and New York. She is a member of the Board of Trustees of Shakespeare and Company, member of the Boston Security Analyst Society, Co-leader of the Berkshire Slow Food Convivium and started a local (Berkshire County based) women's networking group called WIM (Women in Motion).

Carole is a gourmet cook and has become passionate about sustainable food and supporting local agriculture. She is also an avid skier, enjoys tennis and golf, gardening, needlework, raising chickens and riding Icelandic horses.
